Eaglewood Tech Rebrands, Launches Website

Eaglewood Technologies is launching a shiny new website as part of its first rebranding effort in a decade. The Minneapolis based flexographic services company has designed a new website, logo, and renamed services division to refresh the brand and better represent the company of the new decade. Eaglewood Tech has led anilox roll cleaning technology for 25 years in the corrugated and flexible packaging markets. New products are bringing Eaglewood into additional markets such as narrow web and press parts cleaning. The goal is to bring trusted cleaning technologies to the world's best companies.

The website is found at www.eaglewoodtech.com and sports easy navigation, product videos and all things flexo!

Eaglewood Technologies has been providing anilox cleaning systems and services for decades. Constant innovation has helped Eaglewood to become the industry leader with an anilox cleaning option for every converter. Product offerings range from the award winning Sitexco laser systems to Sanilox™ In Press or Off Press Systems or XPress™ Anilox Cleaning Service.

Schedule a visit to the Demonstration and Training Center in Minneapolis or watch demonstration videos at www.eaglewoodtech.com. Contact us at salesinfo@eaglewoodtech.com or (800) 347-1959.
