DYNAMIC DIES KICKS OFF 50 YEAR ANNIVERSARY BEING NAMED 2021 TOP WORKPLACE

Leaders and employees of Dynamic Dies celebrate receiving the 2021 Top Workplace Award.

Dynamic Dies is honored to be named a 2021 Top Workplace as they begin a year-long celebration of their 50-year anniversary. The distinction is awarded annually in recognition of Top Employers who are commitment to developing and sustaining a culture that values its employees. This is the second time Dynamic Dies has received the award.

The Top Workplace is an honor for any company to receive because it is based solely on the anonymous survey feedback from each company's employees. The survey is conducted by Energage, a leading research firm on organizational health and employee engagement. Survey results showed that Dynamic Dies ranked above the benchmark national average for both employee participation and employee engagement.

"We are extremely proud to be recognized as a Top Workplace," stated Dynamic Dies Company President, Pat Sullivan. "We strive to create an environment that encompasses the feeling of family. This has been our mantra since the company began 50 years ago this year. It is amazing that we will be celebrating our 50th anniversary as well as this honor in the same year. We owe all our success to everyone that is part of the Dynamic Dies family and hope for continued success as we move into the future."

Long-term employee tenure is a testament to how Dynamic Dies treats its team members. More than 42% of Dynamic Dies employees have been at the company 10 or more years and over 29% of the employees have proudly been part of the Dynamic Dies family for more than 20 years. "Dynamic Dies has always recognized that its strength comes from our employees", added Jill Kopanis, Vice President of Human Resources. "It's a thrill to see our organization recognized this way for the second time."

One employee commented in the survey "The company cares about my well-being, is supportive and understanding of work and family life, has amazing benefits, competitive with pay and cares about those who work in the company." That is the culture established by founder and CEO, Tom Sullivan who founded the company on the belief that if you take care of the employees, they will take care of the customer. Putting employees first and treating them like family was one of the keys in winning the award. Top indicators from the survey show that Dynamic Dies has a caring culture and along with a family-oriented culture, with employees also citing work-life balance and open-door policy by top leadership. Over 400 employers in NW Ohio and SE Michigan were invited to participate in the selection process with only 22 receiving the award in the mid-sized company category.
